It Seems Babies Can Swallow Most Anything

Altho she will not be a year old until July 31, Judy Lynn is by way of already becoming a legend in the Bowser and Spliss families.

Judy Lynn-- she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bowser, of Blue Island -- is now home from the hospital recovering from an operation necessary to remove two teeth. The two teeth were not in her mouth but in her stomach. And they weren't hers to begin with but were attached to a bridge that belonged to her father, Judy's mother, Elaine, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Spliss, of Mokena.

About three weeks ago Mr. Bowser had laid the teeth on a dresser. A shawl was parked near the bridge. When Mrs. Bowser picked up the shawl it apparently caught on the teeth and let them down to the floor easy. Mrs. Bowser didn't know the teeth were on the floor but they had to be because that is the only place Judy Lynn could have gotten her hands on them.

them in her hands the next step, naturally, was to put them in her mouth. How she managed to swallow them without choking is a question that has perplexed the doctors and everyone else who heard of the case, but she did it.

She did dig a bit, however, and that is how her parents learned there was something wrong. The mother snatched her up and looking into the throat saw a bit of metal which she thought was a bobby pin. Judy Lynn was rushed to St. Francis hospital and x-rays taken. Then it was discovered that Judy had swallowed her father's two-tooth bridge.

The doctor decided to give nature a chance but when two weeks passed and the teeth hadn't another x-ray was taken and disclosed that surgery was necessary. The teeth were removed and Judy recovered rapidly. She was in the hospital five days and then last week-end was brought home. Now the stitches are out and Judy seems none the worse for her experience, but boy! -- does she have a story to tell about HER operation!

Woman Dies After Crash: Man Hurt In Collision

A woman died and a man was injured as a result of two traffic accidents Saturday.

The woman was Mrs. Maude Buss, 64, of 10240 86th ave., Palos Hills. She was a passenger in a car driven by her daughter, Mrs. June Joseph, 25, of the same Palos Hills address.

The car skidded on the wet pavement and overturned. Mrs. Buss was believed to have escaped injury but she was suffering from a heart condition and apparently went into shock. She was taken to St. Francis hospital, Blue Island, and was pronounced dead on arrival. The accident occurred at 115th and Lawler, Hazel Green.

The other accident occurred at Orland Park. Lauren Robinson, 23, of Oak Lawn, was northbound on U.S. 45, Near 145th street he slowed down to turn into the Dog and Suds parking lot and was struck from the rear by a car driven by Mrs. Edward Umek, 32, of 158th st. and 113th ave., Orland Park, according to the police report.

The Robinson car was thrust into the path of a southbound army truck driven by Sgt. William Luoma. The impact spun Robinson's car completely around. When the car came to a stop Robinson stepped out, took a couple of steps and fell to the ground.

He was taken to Christ Community hospital, Oak Lawn, in a Columbus Manor ambulance. At the time it was reported that he was believed to have been seriously injured but on Monday he was said to be greatly improved.

Mrs. Umek declined to go to a hospital, going to her family physician instead, it was stated.

SHELTER HOUSE for Mokena Community park was built by this district this year and is completed and a cement floor laid in time for the Fourth of July celebration. As the name implies the structure gives picnickers shelter from inclement weather and also a place to escape the direct rays of a hot summer sun. Richard Pokorny, Lincolnwood, was the contractor who erected the shelter.

Lighting Causes Fire On Homer Farm

Fire, believed to have been started by lightning, destroyed a combination corncrib and machine shed, 1,800 bushels of corn, a tractor, a 3-bottom plow and two harrows early Tuesday morning on the farm of Casper Ludwig in Homer township.

Firemen from Northwest Homer, Orland Park and Homer fought the blaze and prevented it from spreading. A combine was saved by dragging it out from its storage stall. It was estimated that the loss would exceed $10,000.

The fire broke out about 1:45 a.m. There was an electrical storm in progress at the time and a bolt of lightning is believed to have struck the corncrib.

The Ludwig farm is located on Bell road, about a mile and a half north of 143rd street.

Investigate Barn Fire At Frankfort

A barn on the Bruno Kinderis farm, southwest of Frankfort, was destroyed by fire Sunday night and a nearby granary was damaged. Firemen from Frankfort, New Lenox and Mokena kept the flames from spreading to a pumphouse and other buildings. Origin of the fire is yet undetermined but an investigation is being made.

The Kinderis family was not at home when the fire broke out around 11 o'clock. Authorities are said to be investigating the possibility of arson. There have been several reports of late of vandalism in Frankfort township and in several instances someone has driven into farm yards only to leave hurriedly when it became apparent someone was at home and stirring.

The Kinderis farm is east of U. S. 45 about two miles southwest of Frankfort. The barn contained some hay and straw but no estimate of the loss has been given officially. It was said that it would cost more than $10,000 to replace the barn.

Get Estimate On New Lenox Sidewalk Program

Sidewalks, sewage disposal and peddlers took up the time of the New Lenox village board at its meeting last Friday that wasn't devoted to going over the figures in the annual audit. Discussion of the audit dealt with technicalities of setting up accounts and appropriations.

The matter of sidewalks was discussed in general terms. Eventually it is the hope of the trustees that walks can be installed thruout the village but at the moment they are chiefly concerned with working out a program where walks can be built along Cedar road to serve Oakview and Haven schools and along Second avenue to serve

St. Jude's school and playground.

The pastor at St. Jude's, the Rev. Louis Diethelm, O.F.M., appeared before the board Friday night to point out that many youngsters, not just pupils at St. Jude, made use of the playground there and that it was dangerous for them to use the street for a walk.

Mayor Stanley Gilmore said that St. Jude was included in the proposed plans. Village Engineer Robert Hamilton told the board that from figures he had obtained a sidewalk five feet in width and five inches thick would cost approximately $2.50 per lineal foot. The trustees suggested that a four-foot walk, four inches thick should serve the purpose and would be cheaper.

Mayor Gilmore estimated that to build the walks necessary to serve the schools, public and parochial, would cost about $10,000. The present thought is to meet about 25% of the cost thru the motor fuel tax, if the state is willing, and tax the property owners whose holdings are improved for the balance. The proposition will be discussed more fully later, it was said.

In response to a request for advise as what to do to correct a condition in the digester unit of the sewage treatment plant, Hamilton suggested that hydrated lime be used to bring the chemical process into balance that transforms raw sewage into sludge. There has been too much acid in the primary state, he said. The sewage to be treated should be re-circulated at the plant and the lime added, the engineer said. When there is too much acid there is an offensive odor, he explained. Weather is a factor in sewage treatment, it was explained. Bacteria is more active when it is warm.

An ordinance requiring peddler and hawkers to have a license before canvassing New Lenox for sales was prepared by Village Attorney William Penn and adopted by the board. The license fee is $1 a day or $5 annually for those firms and individuals do practically a daily business in the village. Penalties for violations run from $5 to $200 for each.

Village Clerk Robert McCleary is to advertise for bids on a truck for the street department. Trustee Eugene Hunt is to prepare specifications. Besides figures for the purchase of a truck the village also wants to lease proposition to consider.

Mokena Boy Fatally Injured In Truck Accident At Camp

Paul Lotz, 12 years old, of 18760 Marjorie Parkway, Arby Hills, north of Mokena, was fatally injured when he fell off of a truck at the Chicago YMCA camp on Echo Lake near Fremont, Mich. last Saturday.

PAUL LOTZ

The camp is operated by the 11th st. "Y" where the boy's father, Harold Lotz is the executive director. It was the first serious accident in the history of the camp.

Paul, and his 14-year-old brother Wayne, had been at the camp about a month. An Indian night program was scheduled for Saturday and Paul was helping to gather some of the necessary equipment.

The truck, of the pick-up variety, was owned by the camp and driven by an older boy, Kenneth Matson, a camp employee and the son of Dr. Kenneth L. Matson, the chairman of the board of the 11th street "Y". According to the report from the camp one of the doors of the truck cab had resisted opening for several years and was looked upon as solid.

Paul was riding the running board, it was stated, when suddenly the door that couldn't be opened swung out wide, knocking the boy backward. Paul is believed to have either struck the side of the truck or the ground with his head. The result was fatal.

Incidentally, Paul's brother, was also a camp casualty this summer. Wayne slipped and fell a couple of days after arrival at camp and fractured an ankle but remained on until Sunday when he was brought home.

Paul's body was taken to the Hirsch chapel at Tinley Park where services were conducted at 10 a.m. Tuesday with the Rev. Robert Watson, pastor of the Mokena Methodist church officiating. Interment was at

Riding Show At New Lenox

The New Lenox Riding Club will stage its 5th annual Benefit Horse Show this Saturday and Sunday at the Fred Francis 4-H Field in New Lenox.

A Society Show is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. Saturday, with a Western Show slated to start at 8 o'clock Sunday morning. The Sunday performance will continue through the afternoon after a noon recess.

The admission donation is $1 with a special fee of 50 cents for students. All proceeds will go to maintenance of the Francis 4-H Field.

Paul's mother, Katherine Lotz, died several years ago. Besides his father, two sisters,

Frankfort Board Adopts Appropriation Ordinance

The Frankfort village board has adopted its appropriation ordinance for the 1963-64 fiscal year and the total is less than last year's.

Total amount appropriated for the current year is $108,576. Last year's appropriation was $338 more, according to Village Attorney Albert H. Krusemark, Jr., or $108,914.

Proposed expenditures were slashed in various categories this year but by the same token various items were raised. For example the street department's appropriation was raised about $6,000, Krusemark pointed out. The appropriation ordinance appears on another page in this issue.

And relative to streets, the board at its meeting Monday night adopted resolutions asking for motor fuel tax money to cover certain improvements. One proposed improvement is the blacktopping of Kansas street between Ash and White. Another is Bowen street between White and Smith. Trustee Milton Subbert, head of the street department, said this street would be scarified and refinished. Also on the list are California (Oregon) from Maple street to a point 290 feet west of Elm and California from Locust to a point 290 feet west of Elm, and Linden between LaPorte and Nebraska. Some grading also will be done to keep water off a section of Nebraska street.

The village board is seeking an expression of opinion by the public on the use of a chemical to reduce precipitation of iron in the village water supply. The village has been using such a chemical for several months. Whether it continues to use it will depend upon the report it gets from water users before Aug. 1.

August 1 is the deadline. The village has until that date to decide whether to retain the pumps used in injecting the chemical into the water mains. The chemical, according to its dispensers, holds the iron in suspension, thus preventing iron stains on sinks or laundry, or at least reducing it to a large degree. To use the chemical costs the village approximately $1 a day, according to Village Clerk Walter Pfaff. Chlorine costs another dollar a day, it was said, but a water supplier must use chlorine regardless, it was said.

Members of the water committee are Trustees John Topp, Daniel Hecht and Milton Subbert. They ask that the water users in the village telephone or write Mr. Pfaff at the village hall before Aug. 1, and express their opinion as to whether to continue the treatment of the water to reduce rust or to abandon it.

The board is also asking property owners to make certain that weeds are cut and shrubs reduced in height where they may obscure the vision of motorists approaching intersections. Frank Heusser, thistle commissioner of Frankfort township, appeared before the board to join in urging lot owners to cut weeds.

A bill from Hulett Corp. for $201 against the village was to have been passed along to Northern Illinois Gas Co. The $201 represents charges for repair of a leak in the water line at 725 Cedar Lane. Victor Eisenbrandt, plumbing inspector, told the board that the gas company was responsible for the break in the water line but he added that he disagreed with the extent of some of the charges in the bill and believed it to be too high.

In the absence of Mayor George Sangmeister, Trustee Hecht presided at Monday's meeting.

Police Provide Aid For Stranded Fruit Pickers

Hungry and parched with thirst a group of fruit pickers from Florida and Arkansas bound for Michigan took refuge at Westhaven Monday night.

By the time they had gotten that far on their journey the group had run out of everything, food, and water for themselves and gasoline for their cars. Six men had gas enough to go on with the hope they would find something, some means to aid their companions in the three ancient cars parked along the shoulder of U.S. 45 near 171st street.

There were 15 in that party--three children who have not yet reached the walking stage--four women and the remainder were men. Their gas tanks empty, the people just sat for a time. Later the men got out and began to walk the fields. Afterwards they explained they were looking to see if the fields offered anything to eat but there was nothing.

It was about 4 o'clock in the afternoon when the party halted.

3 From Area On Dean's List At No. Ill. U

Three students from the area are on the Northern Illinois university dean's list for the spring semester, it was announced by Dr. Ernest E. Hanson, vice-president of student personnel services.

The students are Judith A. Rakoski of New Lenox, Stewart G. Hamilton and Frances L. Swisher of Tinley Park.

Making the dean's list is quite difficult, all students agree.

HUNGRY AND WEARY these itinerant workers bound for the Michigan cherry country bogged down near Westhaven late Monday when their cars ran out of gasoline. The assets of the 15 persons in the group, including women and children, came to one penny, the clothing that covered them and three ancient cars. When police learned their plight they took them into the village hall at Westhaven where the transient were fed, provided with funds and gasoline and sent on their way. They came from Florida and Arkansas. The Westhaven resident at the coffee urn is Robert Rushing of 16825 Hilltop.

The Mothers' Club of 33-C will sponsor a book sale at the school on Wednesday, Aug. 7, beginning at 9 a.m. New school books and work-books for the fall term will be offered. The club holds its regular meetings on the third Thursday of each month when school is in session. On Thursday evening, July 11, the club sponsored a Youth dance at the school-house.

Mrs. F. J. Paddock and Mrs. Jerome Paddock were luncheon guests in the home of Mrs. James Madison in Plainfield last Monday.

Mrs. R. C. Storm has moved to her new home in Lockport recently. A former Homer resident, she has lived in New Lenox for a few years but was a Lockport native.

About 30 members, friends and children attended the King's Daughters' picnic in the Ray Carlson home Thursday. After a bountiful dinner, there was a short devotional and business session, followed by games directed by Mrs. Clara Kettering, and a social hour.

Rev. and Mrs. Roger M. Leonard of New Paltz, N.Y., spent last week in the home of his aunt, Mrs. Lois Swanson, Parker Rd. Before returning to their home, they expect to visit Springfield, Ill., Gettysburg, Pa., Washington, D.C., and Williamsburg, Va.

The Otto Moravec family are vacationing in Estes Park and Boulder, Colo. At Boulder, they will be guests of her parents who are spending the summer there.

Mrs. Wilbur Francis, Sr., left early Saturday morning for a motor trip to Canada where she will visit her brother, Norton Rowley, a former Homer resident, who has lived at Bow Island, Alberta, for many years. Mrs. Francis accompanied her son, Milton, and family who will be vacationing in Canada while she visits.

Rev. Cox will be counselling at Tower Hill Camp this week. Services will resume at Homer Church on the regular schedule on July 21, with Sunday school beginning at 9:30 a.m. and worship service at 10:45.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Burnworth were called to Danville recently to attend the funeral of a cousin. Mrs. Burnworth has been helping to care for her brother-in-law, Lester Burnworth, who has been seriously ill in a Chicago hospital. He has recovered sufficiently to return to his home in Sidell.

Theodore Skovronski of Kewanee and John Goldman of Perkin escaped serious injury late Wednesday evening when their car went out of control near the intersection of Bruce and Cedar Rds. The car, reportedly traveling at high speed, struck a Public Service pole which was broken in three pieces by the impact, and landed in John Reiter's field.

The men, said to be employed as painters in this area, were removed to Silver Cross Hospital by the Goodale ambulance, and were given emergency treatment. The car was a total wreck. Another machine with whom they were apparently racing, also went off the road and missed the corner light-pole by a few inches.

Mr. and Mrs. Julian Williams and son of Sidell spent the weekend in the Earl Burnworth home on Bruce Rd. They were enroute home from a vacation in Canada and Wisconsin. Mrs. Williams is Mrs. Burnworth's mother.

Robert Bielby Jr. of Gougar Rd. lost control of his car recently and ran into a ditch near his home. He was treated at Silver Cross for lacerations to head and face.

Mrs. Earl Burnworth and grandson, Si, accompanied her son, Larry Burnworth and family of Plainfield to a horse show at Sunbury last Sunday.

Mrs. Earl Burnworth and grandson, Si, accompanied her son, Larry Burnworth and family of Plainfield to a horse show at Sunbury last Sunday. Their Quarter Horses captured a few ribbons.

Open House was held at Shady Oaks Camp on Parker Rd. Sunday afternoon. Ministers from local churches conduct short services there each Sunday morning through the damp season.

Two Young Engineers Get Step-up In Sanitary Dist.

Sanitary District Supt. Vinton W. Bacon has promoted two young engineers to key posts in the district's engineering department.

The promotions, he pointed out, follows the district's current policy of promoting personnel from within the district when they are qualified.

Promoted today were Forrest C. Neil, 37, of 946 Forest av., River Forest, to assistant chief engineer of design, and Robert L. McCarthy, 32, of 14645 S. Michigan av., Dolton, to engineer of flood control. For Neil it is his second major promotion within four months. On April 26 he was named engineer of flood control, succeeding Robert R. Williams, 56, of Naperville, who left the district.

Neil, who has been with the district 15 years, will succeed Norval E. Anderson as assistant chief engineer of design. Anderson recently was named acting chief engineer.

Neil, in his new post, will earn $1,364 a month. He had been receiving $1,138.

As head of design, Neil, a graduate civil engineer of the Illinois Institute of Technology, and a registered professional engineer, will be responsible for all design work performed by the district's engineering department. He will supervise seven section heads, including his former department, flood control.

Bacon said Neil's experience of 15 years, in sewer design, construction, and sanitary engineering, qualified him for the top post. Neil, Bacon said, also worked on phases of the lake

MARKETING ANALIST

Corn prices have been higher this summer than we expected. Recent prices have been around 15 cents a bushel over last year's figures. The big reason for the higher prices this year is smaller sales by the government. In addition, recent weeks brought reports of poor prospects for the 1963 crop.

The government (the Commodity Credit Corporation) sold 680 million bushels of corn from last October to mid-June. This was 168 million bushels, or 20 percent, less than was sold from government stocks in the similar period a year earlier. (A small part of this decrease was offset by increased sales of sorghum grain, which totaled 112 million bushels, 25 million more than at the same time a year earlier.)

CROP CONDITIONS The 1963 corn crop got off to a good start. But the outlook for yields in some areas is uncertain. A recent survey by the Illinois Crop Reporting Service showed that soil moisture was short in 52 percent of the state. And an unusually late frost caused considerable damage in low areas in some eastern counties. Most of this damage was in LaSalle, Grundy, Kankakee, Livingston, Iroquois and Ford counties.

Iowa reported shortages of moisture in the highly productive central and northwestern parts of the state. Likewise, Indiana reported moisture shortages in the north and west. Most of Nebraska had a shortage of soil moisture to mid-June, but some areas have had rains since that time.

EXPORTS. Corn exports from October 1 to mid-June totaled 280 million bushels. This was 27 million bushels, or 9 percent, less than the year before. (By contrast, exports of grain sorghum have been greater this year than last. Exports from October 1 to mid-June were 85 million bushels, 20 million more than a year earlier.)

FEEDING. Domestic demand for corn exceeds that of a year ago. Farmers were feeding 11 percent more cattle on April 1 than a year before. And the production of broilers is up 6 or 8 percent. Hog numbers, however, are little, if any, greater than they were in 1962.

PRICE SUPPORT. At the end of May, farmers had 563 million bushels of 1962 crop corn under price support. This was 8 percent less than the comparable figure for a year earlier. The total amount of corn (from five different crops) under price support was 977 million bushels, 15 million more than a year earlier.

GOVERNMENT STOCKS. At mid-June the government owned 490 million bushels of corn, 159 million less than a year earlier. This corn, plus the amount under price support loans, totaled 1,467 million bushels. That was 144 million bushels, or 9 percent, less than the total under price support and owned by the government a year earlier.

The carryover next October 1 is expected to be around 1,300 million bushels, compared with 1,640 million in 1962 and 2,000 million in 1961. Most of it will be owned by the government or under price support loans.

Break Records

Chicago's Museum of Science and Industry, internationally acclaimed as one of the city's biggest attractions for sight-seers, continued its record-breaking attendance pace during the first half of the year, when it entertained 1,215,220 visitors.

This was an increase of 55,898, or better than 4.8 percent, over the 1,159,322 recorded during the first six months of 1962, according to Lenox R. Lohr, museum president.

Can Take Trip Around Moon By Standing Still

If you're interested in taking a rocket trip around the moon without the rigors of space flight training and without leaving mother earth, you'll have the chance at the Museum of Science and Industry here in Chicago from July 18 to Aug. 15.

You can take it in the special "Space-A-Tarium" exhibit presented in the museum's main rotunda by the Command Systems Division Apollo Support Dept. of the General Electric at Daytona Beach, Fla.

The exhibit will give museum visitors the feeling of having made such an imaginary but vivid trip and of experiencing some of the exhilaration that will probably be enjoyed by the Project Apollo astronauts when they go on their round-trip voyage to the moon.

Stepping into this unusual exhibit, which is housed in a large hemisphere, is like stepping into another world. In the dim light one sees a large model of the world with stars twinkling overhead.

Inside, there are four control panels the visitor may operate to simulate various space activities.

One of these can take him on an imaginary flight around the earth.

At a second station a simulated blast-off into space for the lunar expedition gives the viewer the feeling he is really moving into space as the earth becomes smaller and smaller during the trip. A narrator's voice gives a vivid description of what is taking place as the moon's mountains and craters appear.

The third control panel gives would-be missile marksmen an opportunity to shoot a guided missile out of the heavens. And, at the fourth control position they can launch and guide a missile over the top of the world.

The exhibit will be open to the public from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. on weekdays and from 10:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. on Sundays.

75 At Birthday Party For Mayor's Grandson

MRS. KATHARINE HEISNER
Telephone: 469-5187

Mayor and Mrs. George Sangmeister Sr. entertained guests last Sunday in honor of their grandson Kurt, who was one year old. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Sangmeister Jr. of Mokena.

About 75 relatives and friends were served a chicken dinner which was served outdoors. A large birthday cake centered the table which was decorated in a birthday motif.

Various games were played and prizes awarded to Mrs. LaVern Smith, Mrs. Lynn Kohlhaugen and Cindy Hinspeter. Those attending from here were the Rev. and Mrs. LaVern Smith and family, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McManimen, the Walden Larsons, the Lynn Kohlhaugen family, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lockner, the Bert Larson family, Clara Bennett, the Don Hinspeter family, Mr. and Mrs. Max Feller, Mrs. August Santoro and son, and Henry Keuster. From Mokena other than Mr. and Mrs. George Sangmeister Jr. were the Rev. and Mrs. T. C. Wimmeler and family, Mrs. Anna Hinspeter and the Marvin Weitendorf family. Those from Joliet were Mrs. Bror Johnson and son, Mrs. Leona Sangmeister, Mrs. Rose Reckemer, Mrs. Jean Countryman and son, Mr. Raymond Reilly, also the families of the Leonard Johnson's, Robert Johnson's, Carl Bjorn's and Don Rini's.

On Sunday, July 21 at 9:30 a.m. the Sunday school classes of the Frankfort Methodist church will meet at the Leonard Patterson's farm for their sessions. After the church services, all parents, church members and friends are invited to come and join in a pot-luck dinner.

Families are asked to bring their own table service, drinks and food to share. Tables are available for the food but not to use, so those wishing to eat at tables, bring your own table and chairs.

Mrs. Burton Breidert opened her home to the executive board of the Womens Fellowship of the St. Peter's church last Wednesday afternoon, when a planning meeting was held for the next year. Mrs. Breidert is the president of the Womens Fellowship group.

Cartoons Cheer Hospitalized Servicemen

A laugh is considered good medicine, so hospitalized servicemen are getting an extra "prescription" these days from Will county young people who supplied 1,000 cartoons to 13 army, air force or navy hospitals across the country.

The young people, members of high school Red Cross, collected the cartoons and mounted them individually on brightly colored paper.

Now the cartoons are posted on bulletin boards or are being distributed to the bedside of servicemen confined to military hospitals.

Thank-you letters from the hospitals, received at the office of Will County chapter, American Red Cross, show how much the small touch of humor means to the sick men and women.

Directors of the naval hospital at Corpus Christi wrote: "The patients...enjoy anything that keeps their minds off themselves. We appreciate your thoughtfulness and time in preparing the cards."

The cartoons went to military hospitals in Illinois, Kansas, Missouri, Colorado, Oklahoma and Texas.

AUXILIARY POLICE

The Will County auxiliary police will hold their next meeting Sunday evening, July 21 in the conference room of the sheriff's administration building. Mr. George Sangmeister Jr. will speak at this meeting.

5-In Memoriam

IN MEMORIAM
In loving memory of FRANK (BUD) CHILVERS who passed away 1 year ago July 15th.

Sweet are the memories, that never fade,
Of one we loved, but could not save,
A silent thought, a secret tear,
Keep his memories forever dear.

Family,
Lemont

Post Office To Issue 5 New Stamps--

The post office department announces five new commemorative postage stamps, one of which will appeal to people who like to see a bit of whimsy on their stamps, according to Lester Brown, New Lenox postmaster.

It is a stamp designed by Norman Rockwell to mark the 100th anniversary of the inception of city mail delivery. An 1863 letter carrier, umbrella aloft, walks stoically in the rain, flanked by a small boy and his dog who are happy in the downpour. In 116 years of stamp production this is the first "humor" stamp.

Other stamps announced are for:

Sam Houston, hero of Texas independence.

Cordell Hull, Secretary of State under President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

John Muir, American naturalist.

In the fine arts series, a John James Audubon painting of birds will be issued to round out the Post Office Department's 1963 stamp program under the 15-a-year policy.

The 5-cent Cordell Hull stamp will be placed on sale on Oct. 5, 1963, at Carthage, Tenn., his home.

Dates and places of issue for the other four stamps have not been set.

The Houston, Hull and Muir stamps are planned for one color production - City Delivery and Audubon are multi-color. All are 5-cent stamps.

The Sam Houston stamp honors one of the nation's most colorful heroes. He was born near Lexington, Virginia, March 2, 1793; moved with his family to Tennessee, where he left home to live with the Indians. Chief Oolooteka adopted Sam as his son.

When Texans fought for independence from Mexico, Houston was commander-in-chief of the army that defeated Santa Ana in 1836. He served two terms as president of the Republic of Texas and when Texas entered the union in 1845 he was a first U.S. senator of the new state, serving until 1859 when he became governor of Texas.

In an ironic climax to his career Houston was deposed as governor in 1861 because of his loyalty to the Union, when the war flared.

He died in 1863 in Huntsville, Tex.

Cordell Hull is one of four men who will be honored with commemorative stamps this year. Secretary of state during the turbulent years, 1933-1944, Hull was one of the most highly-regarded cabinet members in history. He is best remembered for his efforts to stabilize relations with Latin America. Hull won the Nobel Peace Prize in 1945.

He was born Oct. 2, 1871, in Tennessee, studied law and was admitted to the bar at 20. Two years later he was elected to the legislature, entered congress as a representative in 1907 and moved to the Senate in 1931.

Hull died in 1955 and is buried in Washington Cathedral, Washington, D.C. His Tennessee home was Carthage.

John Muir, who is probably America's best known naturalist, is credited with the establishment of Yosemite National Park, in California, and preservation of the giant sequoia trees, the oldest living things in the nation. Muir, a hiking-friend of Theodore Roosevelt, induced the interior department to set aside lands in California to protect the sequoias. He was born in Scotland in 1838 and died in 1914.

Muir spent most of his life in California where he wrote articles, poetry and some ten books on the beauty of nature. In his youth, he walked from Wisconsin to the Gulf of Mexico and to California, then on to Alaska.

July, 1863 marked a milestone in postal service when free city delivery was begun, and Norman Rockwell's stamp design is a tribute to Postmaster General Montgomery Blair's vision.

In 1825, Congree provided for delivery of mail by private carrier, who charged the recipient two cents per letter and one-half cent for newspapers. This "penny post" operated only in the larger cities. At Blair's suggestion, congress passed a law providing for free delivery of city mail. Four hundred and ninety-nine letter carriers began service for 49 cities. Today there are some 120,000 regular carriers and about 44,000 substitute carriers.

John James Audubon's painting of Columbia jays is this year's stamp in the fine arts series. The painting hangs in the National Gallery of Art, Washington, D.C.

Audubon was born in Haiti in 1785, came to the United States in 1803, roving in Pennsylvania, New York, Kentucky and Louisiana, where he failed in various business enterprises.

Meanwhile he painted birds. Publication of his book "Birds of America" which was produced by the aquatint method in England brought him fame. The book contained paintings of 489 species and is still regarded as the basic bird book.

The town of Audubon, New Jersey, is named for him, as is The National Audubon Society, which has some 9,000,000 junior members.

The naturalist died in New York in 1851.

Reclassifying Property In New Zoning Measure

Request of George Helgeson to reclassify his lots on Revere road to permit multiple housing has been turned down for the present by the Mokena Village board but Trustee Hans Mueller, who is also a member of the zoning board of appeals, explained that this action was taken because the board is having a new zoning ordinance drafted, and not because it is opposed to multiple housing.

It is possible, it was said, that when the new ordinance is drawn that this area will be zoned for multiple zoning.

What the village board is to do about extending Anna street could affect plans for a bowling alley slated to be built on Wolf road next to the Pioneer cemetery. Walter Yunker and others are said to be interested in erecting the bowling lanes, according to a discussion at the Mokena village board meeting. The lanes are to be built, it was said, on property formerly owned by Reese Guindon. Plans are said to call for extension of the building to the rear lot line, which would come up to the edge of Anna st., if that thorefare were to be extended.

Trustee Will Tuttle suggested the board follow the example of other communities that require water users put up a deposit, especially in the case of renters. Tuttle reported that a tenant had moved out of a house without paying the water bill so the village will turn to the property owner for reimbursement. Tuttle also brought up the question of what to do about payment of employees who are off because of illness or injury. The Mokena council is to study a copy of the Joliet municipal employees policy with a view of establishing one for the village.

Annexation of Brightwood is under discussion. On a motion by Tuttle the board voted to pay the costs and expense of annexing the subdivision to Mokena if 75% of the property owners each pay in $100 as a tap-in fee for a sewer connection. The money would be paid to the village clerk and held in escrow. In the event the annexation program should fail the cost of same would be taken out of the escrow fund and the balance returned to the contributors.

Mokena To Take School Bids In Late August

At a special meeting last Friday the Mokena grade school board approved plans for the addition to Willow Crest school and will advertise for bids.

It is expected that the bids will be opened the latter part of August so that actual construction can get under way in September.

Voters of the district approved a bond issue of $190,000 to defray the cost of the addition. The new structure will give the school five more classrooms, a multipurpose room, and additional office and storage space as well as more toilet facilities.

Supt. James Ennis reports that his teaching staff is almost complete for the coming year. He is still looking for a fourth grade teacher.

The beginning basic salary in the Mokena system for teachers with a bachelor degree and no previous experience is $4,900. Teachers get an automatic raise each year. And, of course, if there is an across the board raise that is in addition.

The average beginning salary for grade school teachers without experience, according to figures covering Will and DuPage counties, is $5,000.

Supt. Ennis said that the heaviest competition in the employment of men teachers come from industry. Industry outbids the schools.

Families Celebrate Wedding Anniversaries

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Walsh of Saugatuck, Mich., former residents of New Lenox, will observe their golden wedding anniversary on Wednesday July 24 in a joint celebration with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Len Anderson, 110 Hickory st., New Lenox, who will be observing their silver anniversary on the same day.

A party and buffet dinner at 7 o'clock that evening will be held at the home of another daughter of the Walshs, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Schroeder, 144 First ave. Assisting the Schroeders will be the Andersons daughter, Dotte Jean, and sons Dale, and Don, and the other three grandchildren of the Walshs, Lynn, Sharon and Bonnie Schroeder.

Mr. and Mrs. Walsh who were born and raised at New Lenox, lived there until moving to Saugatuck about 17 years ago. Mrs. Walsh is the former Estelle Weber, daughter of the late Emma and William Weber. Mr. Walsh's parents were the late John and Catherine Walsh who farmed in Spencer for years. They were married 50 years ago July 24 at Sacred Heart church, Joliet.

The Andersons were married 25 years ago July 24 at Holy Angels church in Gary, Ind.

A Seminary Serves As Home, School, Church

(Editor's note: This is the first in a short series of articles to acquaint readers with the projected seminary for the Diocese of Joliet.)

The projected seminary for the Diocese of Joliet is becoming more and more tangible as meetings continue between the diocesan seminary committee and the seminary architect, Watson Healy of Kruegel, Healy and Moore of Joliet.

Earlier this year, Mr. Healy was asking and trying to answer questions before specific plans could be made. At a recent interview, he revealed that many of these questions had been answered but had, in turn, prompted new questions that still need answers.

The seminary will be located north and east of present buildings on the Lewis college campus. The site will enable people of the diocese to view the seminary. According to Mr. Healy, it is a functional site adjacent to the Lewis college facilities with sanitary, gas, and electrical services at hand. It does, however, present a challenge in that it is located between an airport and a main highway, he noted.

The project includes eight specific space areas, including administrative, chapel, academic, living, and recreation facilities and three service areas: Personal, food, and building service. Each of these areas has a specific relationship to each other and that must be considered in planning, he said.

Both the committee in making decisions and he as architect in planning must keep in mind the purpose of the seminary.

Lydia Woodcock Dies Following Brief Illness

Mrs. Lydia L. Woodcock, 75 years old, late of Laraway road, New Lenox township, died Tuesday (July 16), at Silver Cross hospital following a brief illness.

Private funeral services were to be held today at the Baskerville chapel, Roberts road and Lincoln highway with interment in Manhattan Center cemetery. There was no visitation.

A native of Frankfort township, Mrs. Woodcock had lived in the area all of her life. Since 1932 she and her husband, Fred now retired, resided and farmed in New Lenox township. The couple celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in 1957.

Besides her husband Mrs. Woodcock is survived by one daughter, Florence, Mrs. Jack Goadby, a grandson, John, New Lenox; one sister, Mrs. Lulu Stauffenberg, Manhattan; two brothers, Peter Pfeiffer, of Joliet, and Ernest, of New Lenox, and several nieces and nephews.

ABANDON FREIGHT LINE? Unofficial word has reached village authorities at Frankfort that the New York Central railroad plans to abandon its freight line between Joliet and Chicago Heights but before anything could be done, it was pointed out, the railroad would have to have authority from the Illinois commerce commission. It is said that the railroad is beginning to dismantle its yard at Joliet.

Fred Wilmer, Dies At 87

Fred Wilmer, 87, late of 19436 Wolf rd., Mokena, died Wednesday, July 10 at Silver Cross hospital after a brief illness.

He was born June 24, 1876 in Germany. He moved to Mokena 10 years ago.

He was a retired machinist at a sewing machine company.

He was preceded in death by his wife Ida in 1961. Survived by three daughters, Mrs. Emma Cuchran of Chicago, Mrs. Martha Weber of Mt. Morris and Mrs. Lillian Krueger of Mokena and two sisters.

Funeral services were conducted from the Hirsch Memorial Chapel, Tinley Park at 2 p.m. Friday, July 12. The Rev. T. C. Wimmer officiated and interment was in St. John's cemetery, Mokena.

REVOCATIONS

Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter has announced the revocation of the drivers license of Thomas E. Hartung, 129 Haven ave., on a charge of driving while intoxicated. Ronald G. Cramer, 812 Ogden rd. had his license suspended for three violations.

EARL MOSS of Moss Equipment Company, New Lenox, was among 50 Behlen dealers from Illinois, Indiana and Iowa who last week flew to Columbus, Neb., for a two-day sales-products meeting at the Behlen Manufacturing Co. The other man is H. P. "Mike" Behlen, president of the company which manufactures corn cribs and other products.

MR. AND MRS. ORVILLE C. MITCHELL

Orville C. Mitchell Takes Kansas Girl As His Bride

At a double ring ceremony on the afternoon of Sunday, June 30, at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Peabody, Kan., Orville C. Mitchell of Blue Island took Miss Lenore Antoinette Wheeler as his bride.

Miss Wheeler is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David W. Wheeler of Marion, Kan. Mr. Mitchell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville E. Mitchell of 2534 W. New St., Blue Island, and a grandson of the late Edgar W. Mitchell of Orland Park, who was widely known in this area.

The Rev. Walter H. Ruth of North Canton, Ohio, officiated at the ceremony in a setting of white gladioli, white roses and candelabra.

The bride made a radiant picture in her bateau-necked full-skirted gown of white organza with natural waistline defined by applied Alencon lace embroidered with seed pearls. She carried a cascade of white rosebuds centered with Duchess roses and her jewelry was a strand of pearls, gift of the bridegroom.

THE BRIDE'S ATTENDANTS were her sister Lou, maid of honor; Nadean Kruse and Mrs. John Drowatzky. Their gowns were fashioned of Dior blue silk organza with matching petal hats. They carried cascade bouquets of white roses.

The flower girls, Denise Westerhaus and Clair Lynn Fruehling, and candlelighters, Mary Westerhaus and Jane Harding, wore white silk organza dresses with Dior blue sashes.

Charles Mitchell served as his brother's best man. Ushers were John Kent McCord and D. W. Wheeler, the bride's brother. Mrs. John Hett, organist, played favorite selections of the bride, including Debussy's "Clair de Lune" and "Reverie" and Brahms' Minnelied.

The bride's mother wore a navy sheath dress with matching accessories. The bridegroom's mother chose powder blue lace with matching accessories. Both wore white cymbidium orchids.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors. Guests were served from a blue-tulle covered table by Mrs. Winston Worden, Mrs. R. S. Fanestil and Mrs. Edwin G. Westerhaus. In charge of the guest book was Maude Thompson.

THE BRIDE'S going away ensemble was a checked black and white suit with black accessories. After a honeymoon trip to Saugatuck, Mich., the young couple is living in Blue Island for the summer and moving later to Columbus, Ohio. Mr. Mitchell will continue his studies for the ministry at the First Evangelical Lutheran Seminary. Mrs. Mitchell will teach vocal music in the public schools of Reynoldsburg, Ohio, a suburb of Columbus.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Thomas and daughter Virginia of Herlong, Calif.; Lt. J. E. Thomas, Fort Sill, Okla.; Mrs. W. K. Cadman, Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Cadman Jr., Miss Edith Greer, Marjorie Wamser, Mr. and Mrs. John Drowatzky, Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Harris, all of Wichita, Kan.; Mr. and Mrs. James A. Wheeler and family of Olathe, Kan.; Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Mitchell and Jan and John K. McCord, all of Blue Island; Mrs. Randolph Carpenter, Topeka; Nadean Kruse, Crete, Neb.; Mr. and Mrs. John H. Riddle, Mrs. H. A. Buck, Salina; the Rev. and Mrs. R. S. Fanestil, Hutchinson; Mr. and Mrs. Homer Wamser, Emporia; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Swanson, McPherson; Mrs. Lawrence Griggs, Haysville, and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Thies, Newton.

On Saturday, July 13, Mr. Mitchell's parents entertained relatives from this area who had been unable to attend the wedding at a dinner-reception for the newlyweds at the Beverley Woods Restaurant in Chicago. Approximately 175 guests congratulated the young couple.

Fight Use Of Cemetery Land For Shopping Area

(CNS) - Strong resistance was made Friday to an attempt by the Evergreen Cemetery Association to change the zoning of 17 1/2 acres of land at Kedzie

Ave., between 85th and 87th streets bordering Evergreen Park for the construction of another shopping center. Among those protesting were Donald Ferrell, representing the Ashburn Civic Association; Edmund J. Swain, of 3249 W. 85th St.; Leo Craft, representing the Luther High School Association; Ruth M. Craft, president of the Beaumont PTA; Edward Bjes, secretary of the Ashburn Lutheran church and representatives from other organizations throughout South Chicago and the suburbs.

According to Alan Hartman, attorney for the cemetery association, the land is planned for the use of a gigantic Turnstyle shopping center, including parking spaces for 1,000 cars.

The chief complaint was that the area was basically a high-grade residential neighborhood, with the average home valued at around $32,000, and the construction of a shopping center would devalue the properties.

Other complaints included the danger to children from the nearby schools and churches because of the increase in traffic and "transient-type people coming into the area."

Alderman James C. Murray (18th), also objecting, said that it seemed to him that the cemetery association was attempting spot zoning which was probably illegal.

Swain, who spoke first for the objectors, said that many of the residents bought property simply because the cemetery bordered their land, thereby guarding their property valuation. "People put their life savings into these homes and then just like that, a shopping center goes up. If it is built, I estimate that every home in the surrounding area will be devaluated around $4,500," said Swain.

Ferrell said that the Ashburn Civic Organization was opposed to any business enterprise for the property. "This is a residential area. We would not object to the construction of single family homes. Besides, if the Turnstyle Center was opened, a lot of small business men would go broke," explained Ferrell.

Mrs. Craft suggested that the cemetery lease the land for park purposes, in keeping with the "general characteristics" of the neighborhood.

Members of the committee, headed by Ald. Paul T. Corcoran (37th) seemed to look on the idea of putting up the center with general disfavor. Committee member Joseph P. Burke (14th) said he felt that "there seems to be no change in zoning necessary. This sounds like a request for spot zoning."

Alderman Murray said, "The zoning committee must act for the greatest benefit of the most people. I am sure they will since it is obvious that more

Hints For Homeowners

Mid-summer is the time when borers take their biggest toll of new trees. Healthy, vigorous trees are resistant to borers. Newly planted trees or trees suffering from drought or crowding are particularly inviting to borers.

Some of our most commonly planted materials are host to damaging borers. These include Ash, Birch, Elm, Honeylocust, Lilac, Maple, Oak, Sycamore, Willow, and others. Pine is also subject to attack.

Prevention of borer attack is more successful than attempts as a cure. To discourage borer attack, keep the trunks of newly set trees wrap-

In homes with Flameless Electric Heat you almost have to hunt for dust

When you move into an electrically heated home you can practically forget about dirt. Electric heat is as clean as the electric light you read by.

There's no flame or fuel to make dirt, soot, or grime. And electric heat is such gentle heat it doesn't even stir up dust. In fact, in an electrically heated home you often have to look for dust.

EVERYTHING STAYS CLEAN LONGER

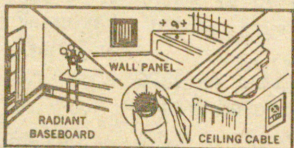

Your curtains and draperies stay fresh and nice for so long you'll have a time remembering when you put them up. Upholstery stays lots nicer, too. Electric heat is so clean you spend far less time housekeeping. That leaves you more time for activities you enjoy.

Living in an electrically heated home has other advantages, too, such as room-by-room heat control and fresher feeling heat that uses up none of the moisture or oxygen in the air. Even your skin feels more comfortable.

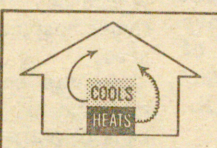

ELECTRIC HEATING NOW COSTS LESS THAN EVER

The recent rate reduction—on Electric Heating—applies to the three basic systems illustrated below. So, if you're looking for a new home... plan to build one... or want to modernize the heating in the home you own, call your nearest Public Service Company office for complete facts on the Electric Heating system that's best for you.

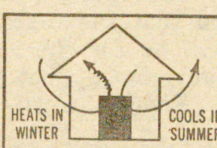

3 BASIC TYPES OF FLAMELESS ELECTRIC HEATING TO SOLVE EVERY HEATING PROBLEM

Radiant Electric Heating—offers room-by-room control. Ideal in homes or apartments. Just set the dial and you control the heat. Heating units circulate and radiate gentle waves of warmth throughout each room.

Central Electric Heating—new kind of furnace for new or older homes. Works with your present duct system. Circulates gentle, electrically heated air. Air conditioning may be added at any time.

Electric Heat Pump—gives you perfect year-round climate automatically. Amazing unit switches to heating or air conditioning by itself. Maintains ideal temperature and humidity with one setting.

Urges Care In Selecting Chief Judge In Cook Co.

Samuel W. Witwer, leader in the fight for the judicial amendment, called the coming selection of the chief judge of the new circuit court of Cook county "crucial to the achievement of real reform in the courts of the county."

The judges are expected to select their chief judge by the end of the month. He will have broad powers and responsibility for the workings of the new court system, provided by the judicial article, which goes into effect on Jan. 1, 1964.

In a statement issued Thursday (July 11) Witwer declared

"There is waste, inefficiency and duplication in our present courts that can be eliminated promptly under the new system if the chief judge is strong and effective in exercising his administrative powers and if he is dedicated to achieving the goals of the blue ballot amendment. Public indignation with the outrageous backlog of cases and with the inequities of the present system were expressed so clearly at last November's referendum, it would be a break with the people for a chief judge to be selected on any basis other than his ability to administer the new court system."

Witwer appealed for the judges to "put aside partisan political interests of the past, personal friendships and ethnic affiliations to find the most qualified man." He said the selection "should not become a popularity contest, opening the door to politics in the new court program."

Witwer pointed out that the new chief judge will have vast powers in supervising what will be the largest unified court in the world, serving five million people beginning next January.

Under the new system, all of the many independent courts in the present system will be unified within the single Circuit Court of Cook County. All 136 judges and associate judges and more than 100 magistrates will be under the administration of the chief judge of the circuit court.

The chief judge will also have responsibility for the formation of such special divisions of the new circuit court, as family, criminal, probate and traffic.

The Illinois supreme court has ruled that all circuit courts of the state must select their chief judge by Sept. 3, to provide adequate time to make necessary administrative changes ahead of the Jan. 1 effective date of the judicial article.

Advise Couples On $$$ Matters

Considering what money can mean to a marriage, the right time to get money thinking straight is at the beginning, according to Changing Times, the Kiplinger Magazine.

The magazine advises newlyweds on money subjects ranging from budgeting and investing to housing insurance.

"Just think what money can do to newlyweds," the magazine points out. "It makes some couples plain miserable. They seem to live in a perpetual, non-stop financial crisis. So they fuss, complain and grow bitter. Inevitably their financial distress unsettles their whole marriage."

"And then there are other couples who seem immune to money worries. They may be in modest circumstances, but they get along nicely and get a lot of living out of what little they have to spend." The secret, according to the article, is good money management.

As a starter, Changing Times advises newlyweds to set up a budget. "Newlyweds, of course, have only theoretical ideas about how much it will cost them to live. Only experience will show how many dollars to allocate to each item." But they can begin, the magazine continues, by estimating the appropriate allowance for each purpose, then keep track of actual expenditures.

"Within a few months," the article notes, "the pattern of spending will become clearer. Then you can adjust as required, cutting back where experience shows your estimate has been too generous, adding where you find you must plan to provide more..."

"Don't be afraid of revising even after you get a relatively firm budget. A budget should not be a straitjacket. It should be flexible, capable of accommodating unusual circumstances and changing conditions. Its only purpose is to provide a financial road map so that your income will take you to whatever destination you choose for yourself."

Business & Finance

BY MAURICE P. ANGLAND

The show down between railroad labor and the railroads, as to putting the new work rules into effect, has been delayed again.

The railroads had set July 10 as the effective date of the new work rules designed to eliminate "feather bedding". The unions effected announced they would strike if such rules were instituted.

The President created a special fact finding committee on the subject to report its findings by July 29 to the White House. Such findings are expected to be the basis for congressional and/or executive action which would insure continuity of vital transportation services.

Neither the railroads or labor desires congressional or executive action on the problem as the results may be undesirable to both. The fact finding committee is, officially, not negotiating, but it seems likely that negotiations will be speeded rather than delayed at this point.

It seems likely that a solution to the feather bedding difficulties is finally in sight.

Railroad issues have been receiving favorable attention of late weeks and a strike would be highly undesirable, but many analysts do not expect the calling of a strike to greatly impair their market position at present. There is an old and rather well respected maxim of the market place -- "never sell on news of a strike". It could well be that a strike would cause the shares to advance as uncertainty usually is more of a depressant than realization of the expected difficulty. In uncertainty there is often no real pressure for settlement of problems, but reality of a pressing problem, forces some method of living with the situation on more than day to day basis.

There are many market maxims which are wonderful when they work. However, the maxim of, "sell on good news and buy on bad news", has some merit, but like all generalizations, is to be used cautiously. It is surprising how often it works.

Some analysts are calling attention to the fact that altho the stock market has shown that the public buying has not been large, the substantial blocks of higher grade shares which are being traded, indicate active buying on the part of mutual funds and institutional buyers, etc. This type of investor, buys when they feel that the next six months will show good earnings likely. The oil shares of top grade, have been market favorites.

Higher standards of living have brought emphasis on leisure time activities. Financial World carries an article on musical instrument manu-

Farmers Will Elect ASC Committees In Counties

ASC committees are being chosen. Farmpeople who are familiar with various alphabet agencies know what the initials ASC stand for but for the benefit of town people ASC is Washington vocal shorthand for Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation.

ASC committees, agriculture bureau spokesmen say, have charge of "the local field administration of such national facturers. It is noted that musical participation ranks next to reading as leisure time activity. They also report that the American Music Conference estimated that in 1962 there were 34 million amateur musicians compared with 19 million in 1950.

In 1962 the industry set a new record by selling more than two million new instruments. Retail volume was stated as $630 million in 1962 against $578 million in 1961 which is greater than 2 1/2 times the figure for 1950. Schools have been more active in musical instrument instruction. There are several manufacturers in this field which have been rather successful.

programs as acreage allotments, marketing quotas, commodity loans, the feed grain program, the wheat stabilization program, the sugar act program, the national wool program, and the agricultural conservation program...and such other duties as may be assigned by the secretary of agriculture.

"Farmers who are taking part or are eligible to take part in one or more of the farm programs which the committees administer elect a community committee from among their own number...The chairman, vice chairman and regular member of this committee also serve respectively as delegate, alternate delegate and second alternate delegate to a county convention where the ASC county committee is elected."

In Cook county farmers who are eligible to vote for the community committee and for delegates to the county convention will cast their ballots on July 23 at 7:30 p.m. in the county office if they reside in Orland, Bremen, Palos, Worth, Lemont and Lyons townships. Rich and Bloom township farmers will vote at the same time and place on July 24.

Bremen State Bank

Outgrows Present Location

A new home for Bremen State Bank is to be built at 17500 Oak Park ave., Tinley Park, several blocks south of the present location which both the bank and the area have outgrown.

It will feature modern banking facilities and improved service for customers in Tinley Park and the surrounding area. Design and construction of this new structure is by the Etl Company, Toledo, Ohio, bank designers and builders.

The new Bremen State Bank will contain 6,087 square feet of first floor area with a basement having 4,129 square feet. The proposed building is an attractive structure of contemporary design having a main facade along Oak Park ave. of precast cement panels with exposed quartz aggregate, vertical aluminum divider strips and an extensive use of bronze tinted glass at the building entrance.

Face brick predominates the side and rear elevations and provides interior decorative effect adjacent to the main entrance. Paved driveway and parking areas for a minimum of 30 cars will be available with easy access to the drive-in facilities from route 42A.

The main banking floor will consist of seven commercial teller windows, a large loan department complete with individual loan counter, safe deposit vault and coupon booths, executive offices, conference room, bookkeeping, reception and lobby areas.

The interior features flush lighting with terrazzo flooring in the lobby, carpeting in open and private office spaces and walnut wall paneling.

Three drive-in windows will offer motor banking convenience for all customers. A side entrance adjacent to the parking area will afford convenient customer access to the loan department after normal hour banking operations have terminated.

The basement, designed for public meetings and conferences, features a multi-purpose room, kitchen facilities, employees lounge, rest rooms, as well as record and storage areas and a mechanical equipment room.

Participation Lending To Give Results

Participation lending by savings and loan associations is helping to solve the persistent problem of uneven home-mortgage demand in different regions of the nation, statistics show.

Under their fast-growing participation program, associations across the nation insured by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp. are permitted to buy and sell shares of mortgage loans among themselves and also to sell shares of loans.

The over-all effect of hundreds of individual associations buying or selling mortgage funds from the regions of the country where savings inflow is highest to regions where the demand for qualified mortgage loans is greatest.

According to United States Savings and Loan league figures, the annual rate of savings and loan participation lending has increased more than 15 times since the program was first authorized early in 1957.

In 1962, it is estimated that savings and loan participation lending amounted to nearly $800,000,000 compared with $478,000,000 during 1961.

This constitutes both the largest dollar increase and the largest percentage increase of any single year.

Federal Law Says It's Illegal To Falsify Prices Of Houses

A warning was issued recently to prospective mortgage borrowers against yielding to a practice which could make them liable to criminal prosecution.

Growing evidence of this dangerous practice, calculated to bring trouble to those indulging in it, was disclosed by Chester W. Smigiel, retiring president of the Cook County Council of Insured Savings Associations.

The practice is that of reporting to a lending institution a sales price in excess of the actual sales price in order to influence the lender to grant a larger mortgage.

Apparently few persons realize this can be fraud under the U. S. Criminal Code, Smigiel said.

New interpretations by the Federal Home Loan Bank have verified that a broker, buyer, or seller who deliberately lies on a mortgage application or influences another to lie in regard to sales prices may suffer $5,000 fine or three years in prison or both.

"In the case of a savings and loan association covered by federal account insurance, it becomes incumbent on them to report such evidence to the FBI for investigation," Smigiel added.

"Buyers should beware of the man who urges deliberate falsification," he said.

"Violation of the federal criminal code can bring disaster."

Park Forest Savings Grows And Grows!

Park Forest Savings and Loan currently is celebrating its second anniversary. "Just two years ago July 1, we opened the doors for business officially," stated K. A. Logsdon, executive vice-president. Our assets at that time were approximately $450,000 July 1, 1963, our assets were in excess of $5,600,000, which represents an increase of over $5 million in two years.

We now have approximately 4,000 satisfied savers throughout the south suburban area, with total savings in excess of $4 million. Logsdon also pointed out that the loan demand has been very good during the past two years and that first mortgage loans now exceed $4.8 million.

The directors, officers, and staff have been pleased with the fine substantial growth of Park Forest Savings and Loan and pledge to continue to maintain a high degree of integrity in the investment of mortgage loan funds. Our sincere desire is to be of service to the people in south suburbia and to help them achieve their savings goals as well as to help them become proud homeowners of our community, Logsdon added.

Baer Tells Tri-State Bank Gains

"Tri-State Bank has now been open for business over a year and has a considerable list of accomplishments to report. As of mid-year 1963, total resources are $7,065,000 including checking accounts totaling $3,646,000 and savings accounts totaling $2,336,000. The bank has 2,249 checking accounts and 2,962 savings accounts. These are impressive figures for a bank which opened its doors on April 27, 1962."

Thus shareholders of Tri-State Bank, 3120 West 159th st., Markham, were advised of the bank's remarkable growth by Wesley A. Larson, president. The June 30 total resources of more than $7,000,000 reflect an increase of 220% over June, 1962 totals.

Tri-State Bank was organized in 1962 by Larson, Arthur A. Baer, chairman of the board, and Raymond J. Spaeth, president of Beverly Bank. Other directors of the bank are: August R. Anderson, M.D. of Harvey; Charles M. Hoffman, chairman of the board of General Magnetics Corp.; Harold C. Mattes, president of General Magnetics

Corp.; Robert R. Porter, manager, Western and Mid-Western Sales, Standard Lime and Cement Co.; Martin Marietta Co.; Thomas A. White, president, Jensen Mfg. Co.; John H. Wilson, president, Mid-States Aviation. The directors were chosen for their ability, breadth of business experience and community interest.

Tri-State Bank's officers also have broad banking experience. Kenneth R. Walker is executive vice president of the bank, Eva M. Kasper, Wayne M. Johnson and Raymond J. Spaeth II are assistant chasiers of the bank.

Customers' needs, comfort and convenience were prime considerations in deciding the location and design of Tri-State Bank. The bank structure is a spacious, attractive, yet functional building, characterized by distinctive vertical sun louvers. Its three-state emblem on the front of the building emphasizes its convenient location enabling it to serve the tri-state area of Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin via the tollway, just seconds from its doors.

The social life of the community is important to the happiness and welfare of its residents, and in recognition of this, Tri-State Bank has participated in many community activities. Its building is available to groups wishing to hold their meetings there and arrangements may be made with any officer of the bank.

Savings And Loan Firms Setting 1963 Records

Illinois savings and loan associations are setting satisfactory records during 1963 both in new savings received and in new mortgage loans made, according to Norton P. Rider, president of the Illinois Savings and Loan League. While the gains are not spectacular, the 1963 record thus far exceeds that of any other year in the 112 year-history of the business in the state.

Gross new savings have amounted to $1,214,665,000 during the first five months of 1963 and withdrawals have totaled $887,670,000, leaving a net increase in new savings of $326,995,000. This net gain in savings is the highest for the first five months of any year on record, and an increase of 24.7% over a net gain of $262,303,000 in the same months of 1962, Rider reported. The previous record increase in savings in the first five months of the year occurred in 1959 when a savings gain of $289,432,000 was recorded, and the 1963 record tops that by 13%.

A total of 91,325 new investors were added to the lists of savings and loan account holders during the first five months of 1963. This may be compared with 100,851 new savers added in the same period of 1962. The fact that the gain in savings exceeds the gain for the previous year while the increase in number of investors is less for 1963 than for the 1962 period, indicates that larger sums are being invested in the current period, Rider said.

Total savings capital in the state's 596 savings and loan associations was in excess of $7,642,902,000 at the end of May 1963, and held by 3,212,221 investors. This was an increase in savings capital balances of $328,080,000 for the first five months of the year.

New mortgage loans made by savings and loan associations have totaled $690,933,000, for the first five months of 1963, an increase of $29,033,000 over $661,900,000 in new loans made during the comparable period of 1962.

New construction loans of $159,556,000 were down $6,712,000 as compared with the same months of last year; while home purchase loans of $330,508,000 and miscellaneous loans of $200,869,000 were up $14,590,000 and $21,155,000, respectively, thus accounting for the slight increase in 1963 lending over the 1962 totals.

Savings and loan associations made 9,360 new construction loans during the first five months of 1963, 92 less than the 9,452 construction loans made during the comparable period of 1962.

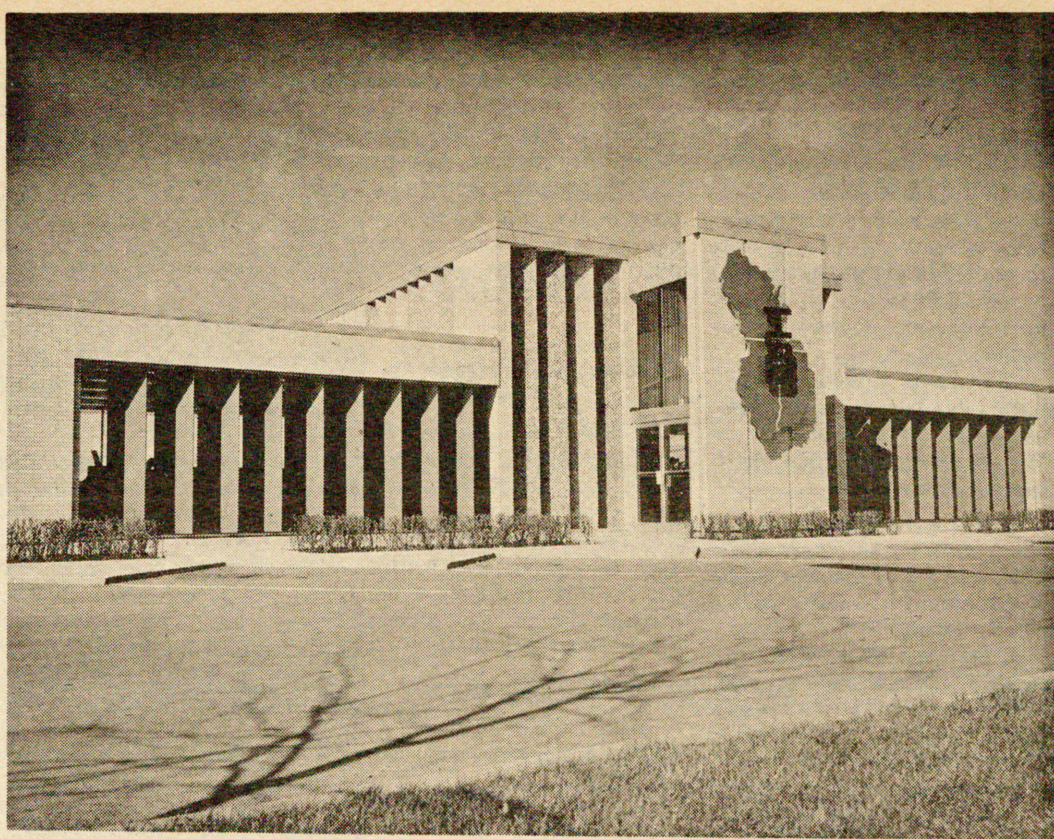

During the first 5 months of the year, the number of home purchase loans reached a total of 26,960, an increase of 1,399 as compared with 25,561 such loans made in the same months of 1962.

Savings and loan associations held mortgage loans outstanding as of May 31, 1963 of $7,639,496,000 to 690,924 borrowers. There has been an increase of 17,780 borrowers during the year thus far.

Of the total volume of mortgage loans outstanding, 2% is in loans insured by the Federal Housing Administration, 4% in loans insured by the Veterans Administration and 94% in loans made on plans tailored by the savings and loan associations for their borrowers, and commonly called "conventional loans."

Total resources in Illinois' savings and loan associations crossed the $9 billion mark at the end of March and are now in excess of $9,163,130,000.

Tri State Bank 3120 W. 159th St., Markham is just west of the 159th St. entrance and exit to the Tri State Tollway. The Tri State emblem is a dominant feature of the distinctive building. Commenting on the bank's name Wesley H. Larson, president said "Our banks name, Tri State is inspired by one of the most modern toll roads which is less than a mile east of our door. It seems to me that the two have more in common than just the name. As the toll road helps people to get where they want to go faster and more easily, so Tri State bank helps its customers to reach their financial goals as rapidly and as effortlessly as possible. The toll road will have a far reaching influence on our surrounding area. We expect our influence to be as far-reaching and as dynamic. We know Tri State bank will be a great contribution to the growing prosperity of this entire area."

As a full-service, commercial bank, Tri-State Bank offers a complete range of financial services to the southwest area. All general banking services can be handled at any teller window, including the drive-ups and walk-ups. All customer services are available on the main floor.

Among the many types of personal financing available at Tri-State are low-cost loans for autos, home improvements, boats, college tuition, medical dental and other personal expenses. Tri-Credit is the bank's revolving check-credit plan allowing the borrower to use established credit as needed.

Illinois Toll Road Earnings On Downgrade

Preliminary traffic revenue of the Illinois tollway for June of this year was $2,645,619 as compared to $2,723,752 for the same month a year ago, a decrease of $78,133 or 2.87 per cent, it was announced today (Wednesday) by A.H. Knauerhaze, executive director of the the Illinois state toll highway commission.

Revenue figures, subject to audit adjustment, indicate traffic revenues of $11,588,787 for the first six months of 1963 as compared with $12,011,950 for the same period of 1962 a decrease of $423,163 or 3.52 per cent.

Average daily toll revenue for June, 1963 was $88,187 as compared to $90,791 for the same month a year ago. Average daily toll revenue for the first six months of 1963 was $64,026 as compared to $66,364 for the same period in 1962.

New Lenox Bank Cites 36 Years Of Service

The New Lenox State Bank can look back proudly on more than 36 years of financial service to its community.

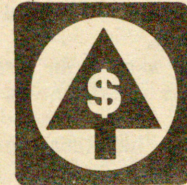

The bank was founded in February of 1927 and Ceward W. Batson, who is now president of the institution, was its first cashier. Mr. Batson has seen the bank grow steadily and soundly with the community it serves.

The bank's financial statement at the close of business June 30 listed resources of $4,127,000.

The bank's physical plant was extensively remodeled in March of 1962 to meet the growing demand on its services. The remodeling included paneling the interior, installing a drive-up, walk-up window, expanding the teller staff, landscaping the exterior and adding a new front. Convenient, ample parking for customers is provided in a spacious blacktop lot adjoining the bank.

In addition to President Batson, other officers of the New Lenox State Bank are John Handorf Jr., chairman of the board; Sheldon W. Hauck, executive vice president; Archibald Corp, vice president; Ernest G. Orom Jr., vice president; Frank E. Vranicar, secretary; Dwight D. Egle, cashier, and Robert J. McCleary and Francis L. Kluge, assistant cashiers.

AND LOAN ASSOCIATION

'Tax Numbers' To Plague Savers

"Tax numbers" to be attached to savings and dividend accounts have been distributed by savings and loan associations, banks, insurance companies, corporations, credit unions, and the like in compliance with a new federal law being enforced by the Internal Revenue Service.

It has been estimated that about one of every three persons will be affected.

Beginning in about mid-April, savings and loan associations in Chicago and the suburbs started sending out notices to savers requesting their compliance with the new law.

To date, the response has been "satisfactory," according to the Cook County Council of Insured Savings Associations.

It is a mammoth undertaking. A alone represent more than 2,250,000 savings accounts in Cook County and more than 2,500,000 accounts in the five-county metropolitan area.

Additional millions of adults and children are being affected through similar tax number requirements imposed by Congress in connection with dividend and interest reporting by banks, credit unions, and such.

These institutions also are sending out notices to savers, policy holders, and stockholders requesting tax numbers.

Persons with social security numbers will use them as their tax numbers. Others may have to apply for special tax numbers by writing to Internal Revenue Service, P.O. Box 211, Baltimore 3, Md.

Tax numbers must be used by all financial institutions on information submitted to the IRS in the future. Under the law, this information will include reports on dividends or interest paid in excess of $10 a year.

Joint savings accounts apparently will present no particular problem as far as the new tax numbering system is concerned the council stated.

In instances where two or more individuals jointly own a savings account, it is not necessary for each individual to furnish his or her tax number, according to the IRS.

Ordinarily, the tax number of any one of the account holders will be sufficient, except that if the choice is between husband and wife, the tax number of the husband must be used.

If the choice is between an adult and a minor, the tax number of the adult must be furnished.

Juvenile accounts also are affected. Since most children do not have social security numbers, parents may have to write to the IRS for special tax numbers which later will become the children's social security numbers.

Children in Illinois are permitted by law to own single-name savings accounts. Where they do, they should have their own tax numbers.

On the other hand, there are many savings accounts where the parents are trustees of the account which is listed in the child's name.

In the case of the usual revocable savings trust account, the tax number of the trustee will become the tax number on the child's account.

A revocable savings trust account is one in which the trustee is empowered to add to, withdraw from, or terminate the account at his discretion.

In the case of less-frequently-used irrevocable savings trust accounts, what is termed as the "employer identification" number of the trust itself must be used.

In these trusts, which cannot be revoked without fulfilling technical and legal requirements, a trustee must file an application with IRS for the employer identification number. A third type of juvenile account - the joint account with one of the parents or some other adult, will require the tax number of the adult.

Always Enough

In order to meet seasonal mortgage-lending demands or obtain funds in the rare cases when withdrawal demands exceed the association's cash on hand, savings and loan institutions are eligible to borrow money from one of 11 regional federal home loan banks.

'Pledge Loans' Help Young Families Buy New Homes

If yours is a growing family with lots of expenses, a "pledge loan" may help you purchase a new home without a substantial down payment.

"Pledge loans," from local savings and loan associations are designed to aid young families who have not yet saved up the 10 to 20 per cent down payment required for most home mortgages.

According to Mrs. Sylvia Topercer, president of the Success Savings and Loan Assn. of La-Grange Highlands, more and more financial institutions are making such loans.

And the loans are helping realtors and builders maintain an active home building and home buying market, she added.

A "pledge loan" was described as one covering up to 100 per cent of a home's sales price. Such a loan is made when the seller "pledges" or puts up an amount equal to 10 or 20 per cent of the total. The seller leaves this money with the lend institution until a certain percentage of the buyer's loan is paid off. He then may begin to withdraw his pledged amount.

Mrs. Topercer said the purpose of such loans is to help worthy families who have not saved up a full down payment. "These younger families should have an opportunity to achieve home ownership," she added, "and in many cases, pledge loans enable a family with several children and heavy expenses to move into a home two to five years earlier."

Compared with second mortgages, "pledge loans" are less costly, more convenient, and safer in that the additional money required is paid back over a longer period of time. It's generally available at a lower rate of interest and is repaid to only one party instead of two, Mrs. Topercer noted.

Skill Necessary In Home Appraisal

A key factor in the granting of mortgages is appraisal of homes by savings and loan staffs, according to the Society of Real Estate Appraisers.

Since property is the security for any mortgage, the lending institution must be sure that the home's fair market appraisal value has been estimated accurately.

Savings and loan associations employ independent fee appraisers or staff trained appraisers for this purpose, the society said.

Because an appraiser must base his valuation on a projection of the home value over a future period, his estimate will consider upward or downward neighborhood trends, ownership changes, real estate markets values, and physical deterioration.

The appraiser's report includes a description of the home and its location, furnishings and their condition, lot size, neighborhood analysis, taxes and assessments, a total dollar value estimate, desirable features (schools, transportation, shopping, churches, recreation), and the age and condition or other homes in the neighborhood.

Relying primarily on the market value and comparative sales date to support his estimate, the appraiser compares the home with other similar properties sold in the same or comparable neighborhoods.

Homewood S & L Pays Dividends To Customers

Homewood Savings and Loan Assn. serves more than 1,700 members of the community in paying for homes through budgeted monthly installments on mortgages.

Homewood financing provided for $1,831,722 of good living for homeowners since January of 1963 alone.

Another 10,700 residents have invested their dollars in a Homewood savings account. They have earned $356,000 for the six months ending June 30.

According to the president, the association feels the South Cook county area will continue to grow over the next many years as well as it has in the past. "We want to maintain our healthy position and properly serve our area both in home loans and as a safe, convenient place to save," said the president. "The association will continue to keep uppermost the idea of proper service to its family of customers," he added.

Many Kinds Of Savings Accounts Are Available

Savings and Loan Associations are becoming more popular than ever before. In a report made this spring over 300,000 accounts were listed as registered in DuPage, Lake, Kane and Will counties.

Each of these 300,000 accounts are insured up to $10,000 by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, a permanent agency of the federal government.

The increase represents a jump of 25% in less than five years.

These accounts represent a wide variety of types and each is adopted to best serve the requirements of the individual borrower. Insured savings and loan associations--specialized thrift institutions--are happy to sit down with an individual and design a savings program to suit his needs.

MOST ARE PERSONAL

The largest number of accounts are individual personal accounts and may be opened by children as well as adults. With the individual account the saver receives a savings passbook in which each addition or withdrawal or money is entered. Dividends are added to the account and compounded or can be paid in cash to the saver, which ever he wishes.

Another type of the individual personal account is the joint account, which is often used by married persons, or a parent and child. The joint account with right of survivorship is the most widely used type and allow the survivor, if one person dies, to become the sole account holder.

The investment account is particularly suitable for a young couple saving for a down payment on a home or for the completion of a wide variety of other major family projects. This kind of accounts is also ideal for churches, labor unions, corporations, credit unions, pensions and perpetual care funds.

Illinois law permits a trustee to open a savings account and to invest trust funds without restriction as to amount in a savings and loan association providing the trustee exercises proper judgement and care.

A statutory trust account for example, is arranged so that the trustee dies, control of the balance in the account goes to the person or persons named in the trust agreement.

Many savings association have special-purpose accounts, such as vacation or Christmas accounts which permit an investor to save for a once-a-year lump sum expenditure that might otherwise throw their budget out of balance. For an extended luxurious vacation some savers use a travel account where savings can pile up for a number of years.

S & L Dividends Average 4.3 Pct.

The average dividend on savings paid by the nation's savings and loan associations in 1962 was the highest in any year since the beginning of the depression, according to the United States Savings and Loan League.

The average annual savings and loan dividend rose to approximately 4.3 per cent last year, the league said, adding that the high savings and loan dividend rates have been a large factor in increasing the interest and dividend rates of all types of institutions.

Highest Returns

Savings and loan associations continue to pay the highest average return on savings of any type of financial institution, the United States Savings and Loan League reported.

Savings and loan associations held approximately $80.3 billion in savings at the end of 1962, according to the league.

Home Loan Rates A Real Bargain

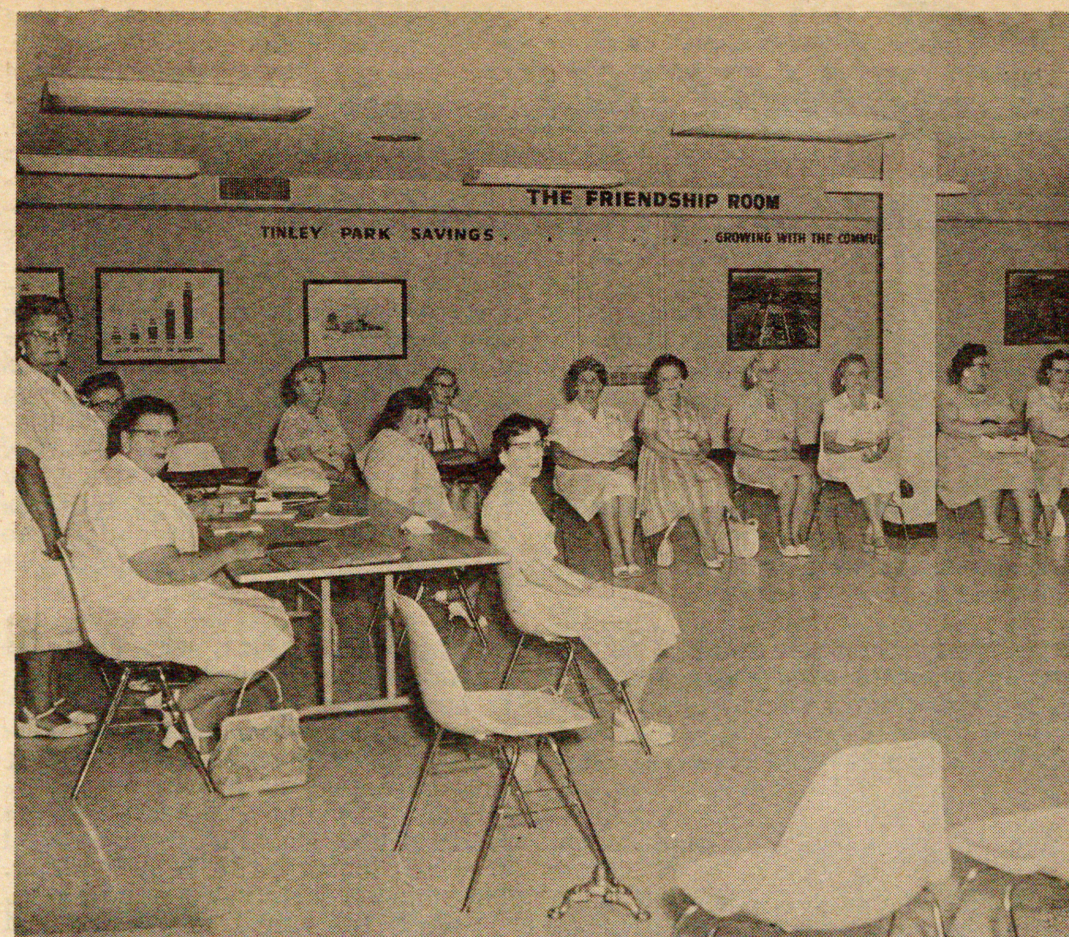

Today's home mortgage market offers bargain hunters the biggest bargains of their lives, according to Stanley J. Cynkar, secretary of the Cook County Council of Insured Savings Associations.

Families planning to buy or build homes will encounter the most favorable financing conditions in years, Cynkar said, because ample mortgage funds are available to qualified applicants at interest rates that are hard to beat.

The secretary told home buyers to take advantage of the unusual situation right now. "Any number of factors such as a strong revival in home building activities could take up the slack in mortgage demand and send interest rates upward," he added.

Today's home loan is a bargain because of the downward trend in interest rates experienced for many months. Average contract rate on conventional home mortgages is at the lowest point in several years--5 3/4 per cent.

This represents a drop of 1/2 per cent from the peak rates of '59 and '60, Cynkar said.

THE ROYAL NEIGHBORS, Camp 2023 is one of the many groups that meet regularly in the spacious and comfortable Friendship Room of Tinley Park Savings and Loan Association. (above)

Friendship Room At Tinley Park Savings Nears 2nd Anniversary

"Service to the Community... rules for the use of the Room fish fans, meet in the Friendship by serving the groups, associations, and clubs of the Community." This is the philosophy upon which the Friendship Room of Tinley Park Savings Association, 17401 S. Oak Park Ave., Tinley Park, was founded, and it could serve as the motto of this useful and convenient meeting room.

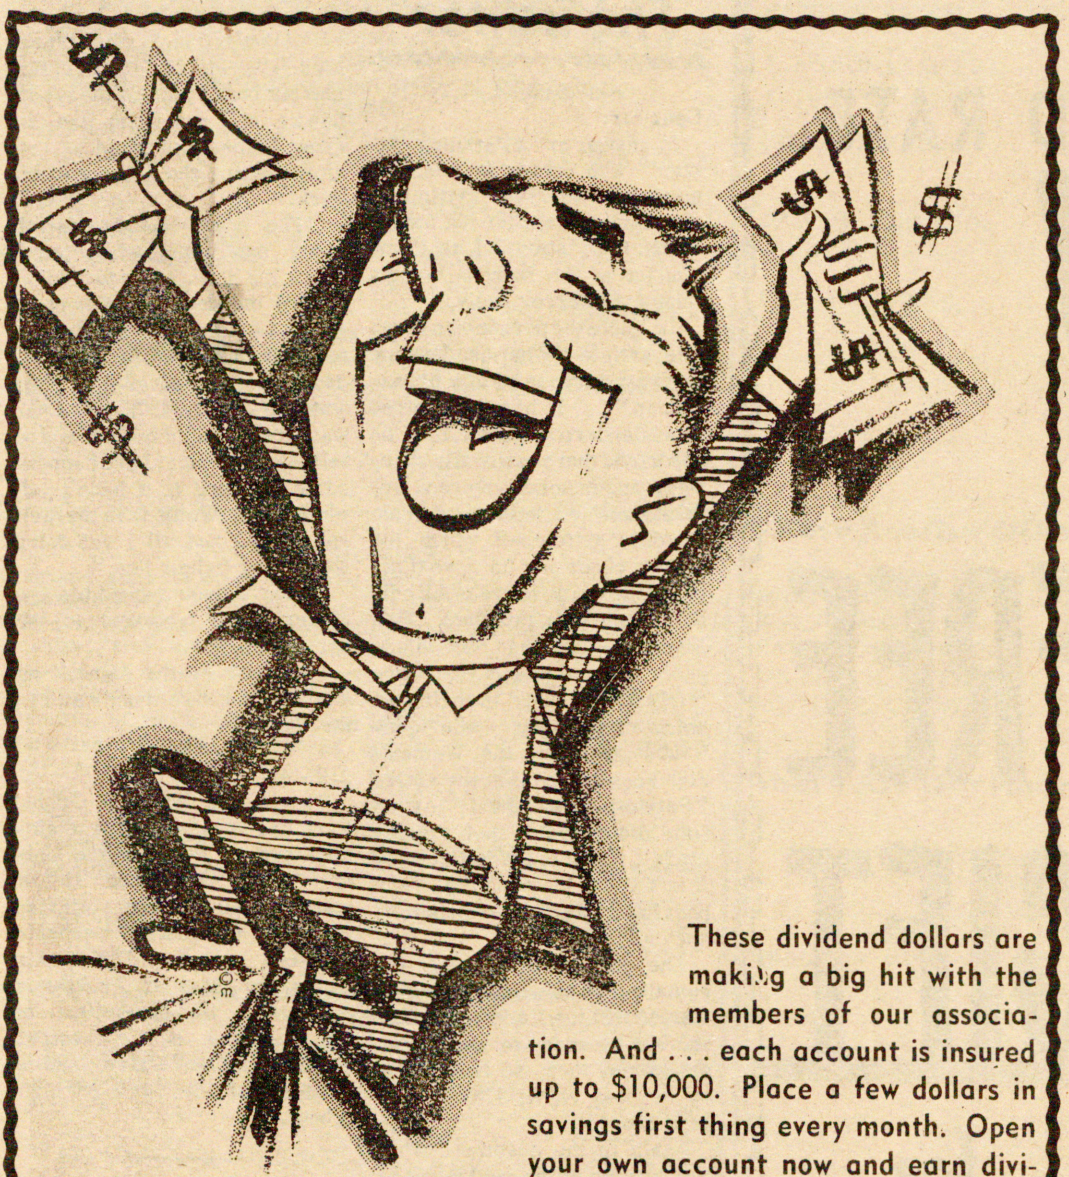

Now rounding out its second year of community service, the Friendship Room is used approximately 2- evening each month, by civic, social, hobby, political and veterans groups. The room is available at no cost, to organizations that qualify under the simple regulations established by Tinley Park Savings.

Harry Dean, president of the Association and postmaster of Tinley Park, said, "When officers of groups or clubs apply in the Friendship Room each month since then. The Green Water Aquarist Club, an organization of tropical are so simple. However, we want local organizations to make use of this facility, so we purposely made it very easy for them to qualify. We like to see the Room in use; it makes all of us here at Tinley Park Savings feel that we are providing something worthwhile to this community. Women Voters, Tinley Park and to the people who support the Association with their patronage."

The Friendship Room is available to groups that hold meetings infrequently, as well as to those that meet on a regular schedule. When the Legion Hall was destroyed by fire, Tinley Park American Legion Post 615 was left without a "home." Tinley Park Savings promptly offered its meeting room to the Post, and many Legion and affiliated group activities have been held in the Friendship Room each month since then.

On Second Thot

By GLENN F. LOGAN
Frank Joseph McGinley, also known as Green Thumb McGinley, came hurriedly thru the

Thursday, July 18, 1963

door to Kelly's Tap, as if he had caught the scent of a bill collector downwind, and didn't stop untill he reached the bar.

"A double shot," he ordered,
"with a bit of whiskey in a little water for a chaser."

He took off his hat, mopped
his head, patted his left cheek

gently, and experimentally wagged his lower jaw from side to side.

He took a deep gulp from the double the bartender had placed before him, and wagged his jaw again.

"It doesn't seem bruk," he said relievedly, "but me face

has a sting now that is a sore thing."

"What did you do," inquired your diplomatic correspondent who was standing next to Green Thumb, "run into a door?"

He drained his glass and then the chaser.

"A bird did it," he declared.
This was indeed a new one as far as your correspondent was concerned and he signalled the bartender for encores.

"What did you tangle with,
an eagle?"

"No," he said, "It was just a bit of a bird--maybe a robin-- a blackbird or perhaps a sparrow now. I didn't get a good look at it at anytime."

"Do you mean that this bird just came up and attacked you?"
Look, your jaw is swollen a bit and I don't see how a bird, a small bird could do that, unless he kicked you."

"It wasn't really the bird that clipped me," Green Thumb explained, "but he was the cause of it."

He took a pull at his drink.

"I need that," he declared,
"because this has been a day.
You see, I was working up at Fred Periwinkle's. I've been there for several days because he wanted a lot of things done about the place."

(Perhaps it should be inserted here parenthetically that Green Thumb is a landscape gardener and a good one too.)

"I was getting in the finishing touches this afternoon and was working with some shrubs near the back door when all of a sudden a woman screamed.
The scream came from the house. As far as I knew Mrs.
Periwinkle was the only one in the place unless someone came in from the front. As I said I was working around at the back.
There was another scream and then another.

"I grabbed a shorthanded
shovel, not knowing what I might meet and ran into the kitchen.
There was nobody there and I called out, 'Where are you Mrs.
Periwinkle.'"

"In here, in here, she called back, 'hurry up and help me.'"

"I went into the dining room and from there I could see her dancing about, waving a towel in one hand and brandishing a broom in the other. There was a lamp on the floor, a couple of ash trays and a windowpane bruk."

"I think he's behind that davenport," says she.

"A man?" I ask, spitting on me hands and getting a good grip on the shovel.

"No," says she, "bird!"

"And so help me, it was a bird. Just as she said 'bird' a bundle of feathers came skyrocketing up from the side of the davenport like a bat out of the hot place and I ducked me head or I'd a got it full in the face."

"Why didn't you catch it?"
demanded Mrs. Periwinkle. But she didn't wait for an answer.
"And put that shovel down before you break something. Open the front screen door and put something against it so it will stay open, I'll prop the back door open."

"Is it a pet?" I ask.

"It is not a pet," she snapped. "Tis a wild bird and how it got in I don't know, but I do know it has to go out, and how or where I don't care. Help me get

Editorial

Remember, Freedom Is Never Free!

The nation just having had its 187th birthday, it is particularly appropriate to reproduce here the words of the FBI chief, J. Edgar Hoover, addressed to all law enforcement officials.

The FBI head sends messages to the law officials of the nation every month. They are not only messages that can be read with profit by those whose mission it is to enforce the law but by every citizen.

We think the one that carries the date July 1 is a message that all who love this nation and would be good citizens should read and follow:

"In our nation, freedom is a hallowed cause--and rightly so. It is the topic of high-level conferences.
Congress enacts legislation to protect and preserve it. High school students write essays on it. Most Americans can tell you what it is.
Few, however, stop to consider the one thing it is not. It is NOT FREE.

"Since 1776, thousands of Americans have paid the supreme sacrifice bravely and without question so that freedom might reign in our land. Our country has never failed to meet the price demanded of a nation besieged from within or without by enemies of democracy. For true Americans, the cost of freedom is never too high.

"Sacrifices which citizens are called upon to make today are small indeed when compared with those of our forefathers assembled in Philadelphia 187 years ago. Yet, we see 'patriotic' backsliders shirk their responsibilities to their country at every opportunity. Thru lethargy or indifference or because it is considered 'boorish' in some circles, certain segments of our society ignore civic obligations nim-bly skirt jury duty, snub public service and avoid situations which require their participation as witnesses. They 'stand' for, or against, many things, but are responsible for none.

"They are deadheading on democracy at the expense of their fellow man.

"Ours is a system of government

by law. The nation's welfare, progress and security depend on effective enforcement of law. Presumably, there would be no question as to where the public's sympathy lies.
However, many local law enforcement officers and representatives of federal investigative agencies daily feel the sting of citizens' refusals to help in matters involving the safety of their own communities or the security of the country.

"Some so-called intellectual and misguided theorists, who view the world thru a rosy haze, are affronted when approached by representatives of duly authorized governmental organizations carrying out their proper functions. Contemptuous and uncooperative, these persons consider investigative and security inquiries to be ridiculous.
Their sense of duty is contaminated.

"When the ranks of decency and morality in America grow thin and listless, crime and other sinister forces flourish. During 1962, over two million serious crimes were reported to police, a six per cent increase over 1961. A major cause of this increase is public apathy,
a refusal by our society to face reality.

"The time may be near when the public must actively support adequate and effective law enforcement or be overwhelmed by a criminal jungle. Mere lip service will not suffice.

"The path of patriotic and civic duty leads to personal glory for only a few, but it does lead to the survival of the American way of life-- liberty, freedom and the pursuit of happiness. The task is a common cause. There can be no exception for special interest groups or laggards.

"As we observe Independence Day, Americans who are prone to shirk their responsibilities to our great nation might think about these things -- to oppressed people who cry out for freedom, the responsibility of preserving it would be a privilege, not an inconvenience."

Letters To The Editor

AMVETS REPLY

Dear Sir:
In answer to "A Patriotic Citizen" who wrote in this column July 11, 1963 criticizing the Amvets Post for not having a patriotic spirit, I as Commander of the Mokena Amvets Post #183 hereby reply.

To quote the person who wrote this article "What has become the real purpose of this organization?" I hereby protest this slanderous question. I do not intend that a nationally chartered and honored veterans organization be held to ridicule in this article of which the writer chose not to reveal his or her identity, for reasons only he or she can imagine! This Women's club that was allegedly slighted by our Post certainly were insured to their own noisy "salesman" who continued to sell the Women's club booklet thru-out the entire "Patriotic Pageant". At no time did they stop their "sales pitch". What is the distinction? It is a sad thing when a veterans post has to answer to questions such as these.

The citizens of Mokena who remained at home during World War II and the Korean Conflict had no reason to doubt our patriotism then, so how can it be doubted NOW, after it has been proved!

Again to the question "What has become of the real purpose of this organization?" I as commander of this post, answer with an invitation to the anonymous writer to come and see for him or herself, come and see our nationally known programs of assistance in and for hospitals, our own contributions for the needy, the aged, and our contributions to sick and orphaned children. Come and see our lobbyizations on a state and national level. Work to promote good and welfare of all citizens! There is more to this list but again I say "Come and see for yourself and you will know the answer to your own question!"

CHARLES OSBORNE
Commander Post 183
Amvets, Mokena, Illinois

the sound of her words because I have no pillow slip in my mouth but I made out finally that she had the bird under the broom and was trying to get the pillowslip off to use as a net like to drop over the bird.

"Just a minute," says I, "There is an easier way than that. I nipped out in the kitchen then was back in a jiffy with the salt box. I'll just put a bit of the stuff on his tail, says I, and lifted the broom a bit to give me room. Then came out with a whoosh."

"The bird's action so startled me that I staggered backward as I got to me feet.

"You big fool, you," blazed Mrs. Periwinkle, and with that she put both hands to the broom handle and swung it like the great Babe Ruth when he was after putting the ball out of the park.

"The broom caught me full along me left jaw. It didn't knock me down but it turned me toward the door and I kept on going. I got out and the bird did too. In fact he flew out the back door, just ahead of me. For which I was glad. That woman was working up a temper and no telling what might have happened to the bird if it hadn't left when it did. Women are the devil sometimes and all I was doing was trying to help her."

Green Thumb rubbed his jaw gingerly and motioned to the bartender.

"Another of the same," he said, "and not so much water in the chaser."

AIRMAN PROMOTED
Timothy C. Wiest of Orland Park has been promoted to airman second class in the United States Air Force. He is stationed in Japan. Airman Wiest is an aircraft mechanic assigned to the 1503rd Air Transport Wing at Tachikawa air base. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Wiest of 10163 Hyacinth Drive, and a graduate of Carl Sandburg high school.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Richards, Hilltop Rd., Mokena, are the parents of a second son born July 14, at Silver Cross hospital. His name is Dale Robert.

WILLIAM F. WHITESIDE
COOK COUNTY
FARM ADVISER
TINLEY PARK 532-4369

4-H Fair time is approaching rapidly. The big day for 4-H club members in southern Cook County will be Saturday, Aug. 3, starting at 9 a.m. and lasting throughout the day and early evening. The Fair will be held at the Fred A. Francis 4-H Field located north and east of New Lenox. Any one interested in the traditional atmosphere of a county fair and interested in seeing the results of a year's work on the part of 4-H club members is cordially invited to attend the Fair.

The Cook County Agricultural Extension Council elected new officers at its July meeting held last week. Continuing as president of the Council is Fred Niemeyer of Tinley Park; a new vice president, Harold Bergman of Palatine. The secretary and treasurer offices are filled by Paul T. Sanders, Palos Park, and Erwin Englehardt of Tinley Park, respectively. These officers together with the Extension Council members supervise the work of the Farm Adviser and his assistants. They are most anxious to have the educational program of the Extension Service meet the needs of farmers and others in Cook County. If you have suggestions concerning the Extension program, feel free to contact one of these officers or the Extension Office, 6657 South Street, Tinley Park, Ill.

I have received a number of calls this week regarding Elm diseases. The most prevalent among these diseases is wetwood. This disease causes a build-up of pressure inside the tree which forces a flux, which is moisture, to bear on the bark of the tree. Sometimes this flux is present in large amounts and you will see this material running down the bark of the tree. If you suspect that you have this problem and would like some information on how to cope with it, contact the Extension Office in Tinley Park and ask for the mimeograph entitled Wetwood of Elm.

In recent field visits I have encountered a number of cases of phytophthora root rot in soybeans. So far as I have been able to determine, the infection is not very extensive. Any plant affected by the disease undoubtedly will die, however. There is nothing that can be done to combat the disease this year. However, for next year, any one who plans to grow soybeans should get seed of the new Harosoy or Hawkeye 63. These new varieties with the suffix 63 carry the same characteristics as their predecessors, the only difference being that resistance to phytophthora rot has been built into the 63 varieties. There is no way to tell the seed of 63 varieties from the older Harosoy and Hawkeye, so the only way to be sure you are getting seed of the new variety is to buy certified seed. In this way you know you are getting what you pay for.

White grubs could be called delayed action insects when they attack lawns. They feed on grass roots at the soil surface all summer, but damage doesn't usually show up until late August. You can detect damage when grass wilts, turns brown and dies. When you roll the sod back, you will find large numbers of grubs eating away at the patch. Controls can be applied any time of the year. A practical method is spreading insecticides as granules along with fertilizer. Two effective insecticides are chlordane and dieldrin. Apply chlordane at 2-1/2 lbs. per 10,000 sq. ft. and dieldrin at 1/2 lb. per 10,000 sq. ft. After spraying or applying granules, water the lawn to filter the insecticides into the area where the grubs are located.

While we are talking about watering, be sure to water your lawn wisely. Don't water more than once a week. When you do water the lawn, soak the soil to a depth of at least one inch. Daily sprinkling causes serious side effects. It makes your lawn more susceptible to disease and encourages shallow rooting of grasses which reduces their ability to withstand future drought or any other stress which is put upon the plant.

Milk is an excellent source of calcium. Nearly a dozen eggs or one-half dozen oranges or six cups of cabbage are needed to furnish the same amount of calcium as one cup of milk provides. Children and adults as well should drink adequate amounts of milk each day.

I would like to say congratulations to all the 4-H members who participated in the State 4-H judging contest held in early July. While the scores in the contest were not spectacular, it is important that 4-H club members have the opportunity to participate in events like this and to sharpen their eyes and their minds. Hardly anyone has ever won the State 4-H club judging contest the first time. Keep up the good work and plan to go back and try again at the county and state judging contests.

17th Annual 4-H Fair Set

Plans are progressing for the 17th annual South Cook 4-H Fair. This outstanding event of the year for 4-H club members will be held at Fred A. Francis 4-H Field in New Lenox on Aug. 3.

Hundreds of projects exhibits, representing months of work, will be judged by experts in the field of agriculture. Exhibits displayed will include livestock, poultry, rabbits, garden produce, flowers, handicraft, electrical and automotive. Spectators may observe the judging of dairy, dog care, and horsemanship in the afternoon.

Highlights of the Fair include the crowning of the new 4-H king and queen, the awarding of the grand championship trophies, and entertainment by local amateurs. A driver skill contest is one of the most anticipated activities for participants and visitors alike.

A variety of new merchandise and farm produce will be auctioned off at the close of the evening program. Proceeds help to maintain and expand 4-H activities in southern Cook County.

Record throngs are expected at the 1963 Fair which is sponsored by the South Cook 4-H Fair Association. Board members are Henry Veldhuizen Sr., president; Melvin Hoger, vice president; Norman Strassenburg, secretary; Melvin Keup, treasurer. Directors are George Kloss, Erwin Englehardt, Herbert Kohl, Frank Sanders, Lloyd Brandau, Ty Thompson and Rodney Knieriem.

Holstein Show Opens At Moosehart On Saturday

Over 300 registered Holstein cattle are expected to be on hand for the Northern Illinois Black and White Show, Saturday, July 20, at Moosehart, chairman Robert Butz of Kankakee announced today. The all-day event will get underway at 9 a.m.

Prof. Harold Kasser of Ohio State university, nationally prominent thru similar assignments at the National Dairy Cattle Congress at Waterloo, Ia., the International Dairy Show at Chicago and a long list of state fairs, will judge.

In describing the 1963 show as "shaping up as our best yet", Butz pointed out that entries are limited to blue ribbon winners at 13 local shows north of a line thru Champaign, Bloomington and Peoria.

A similar plan applies to winners of junior fitting and showing contests at the local shows, making Moosehart a "world series" competition for 4-H and FFA showmen. The show is set up along educational lines with prizes limited to ribbons and trophies. It is generally recognized as one of the strongest of over 400 annual Black and White Shows throughout the nation.

Winners in previous years have been prominent in both

All-American and Junior All-American selections of the Holstein-Friesian World, national publication of the breed.

Moosehart, the famous "city of childhood" just outside of Aurora, maintained by the Loyal Order of Moose, is serving as host to the event as part of its continuing interest in dairy cattle improvement.

Judging, as in previous years, will take place in a park-like area at the edge of a lake, offering excellent picnic facilities for dairymen and their families. Lunch will be available on the grounds.

The Illinois Holstein-Friesian Association extends an invitation to everyone interested in black and white cattle.

"Chartered And Supervised By U.S. Government"

Picking Homesite Can Be Quite A Production

There is just one way to get exactly the right house in exactly the right location; buy some land and build. This advice, in the current issue of Changing Times, the Kiplinger magazine, includes the following twelve critical points which should be checked before a land purchase is made. -- The environment. The big point to remember is that the surroundings will not remain forever as they are when the lot first is viewed. Today's serene, pastoral setting can become tomorrow's cloverleaf interchange, oil tank farm or apartment development. Check the county planning office to find out what uses are proposed for all the land surrounding the property. -- Size and shape. Usually a plot looks larger in its natural state than it does after it is built upon. In rectangular lots, 65 feet across the front and 100 feet in depth is minimal. An irregular shape is not necessarily a problem, but it should be studied carefully to make certain it is not.

-- Topography. Is the lay of the land suitable for the type structure to be built upon it? If extensive changes in grade levels will be necessary it may be wise to search further. Good drainage is essential -- the land should be somewhat higher than streets or roads that give access to it. -- Soil and subsoil. Ideally, the soil should be stable and free of large rocks. If it will be necessary to install a septic system, have a percolation test made to determine whether the soil is suitable. Any doubts about subsoil conditions should be resolved by a civil engineer. -- Boundaries. Have a survey made and get permanent markers placed on the corners of the property. Surveying the typical lot only costs $50 or so and will reveal any encroachments on the property. -- Deed restrictions. The use that can be made of the land may be limited by restrictions that run with the deed. Have a lawyer check for boobytraps.

-- Zoning. Look into the zoning, for it governs what you may do and what future neighbors may do. -- Taxes due. Any unpaid taxes from the past must be paid up to make a clear transfer of title. In addition, there will be taxes due for the current tax year. These should be prorated between the buyer and the seller. -- Special assessments. Find out whether any special assessments (for a drainage district, roads or some other improvement) are payable and arrange for their settlement before accepting title.

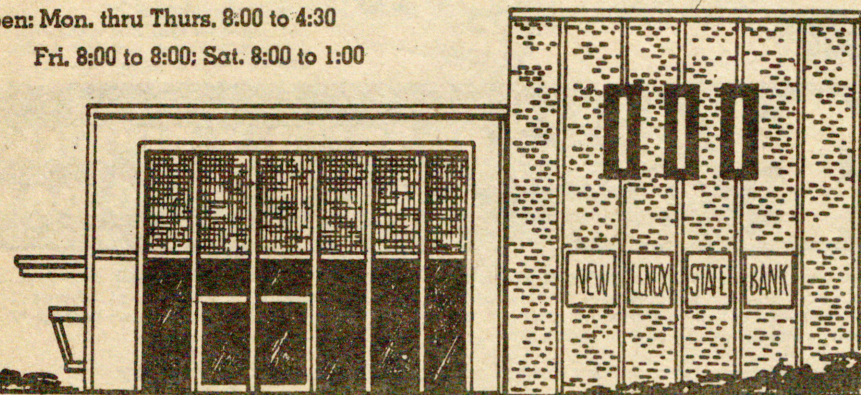

-- Easements. Have a lawyer check for the existence of any easements on the property and explain their significance to you. -- Utilities. Determine whether gas, electricity, water, sewerage services are available and how much it will cost to take advantage of them. -- Solar orientation. A lot that runs north and south provides more opportunity for siting a house to take advantage of the sun's warmth in the winter and to avoid its fiercest glare in the summer. On a large lot, of course, the house can be turned to present its best face to the sun regardless of the lot's orientation.

FBI Makes Short Work Of Catching Burglars

If you think your savings have a better chance of survival stuffed in the mattress, take a look at the record of crime-solving during 1962.

A study by the Federal Bureau of Investigation shows that of 152 holdups of financial institutions in the nation, 110 of the bandits were in custody within months.

Their average loot, by the way, was only $2,888—barely worth risking a prison term for.

The FBI's record of captures in the Chicago and suburban area has been so good that the Cook County of Insured Savings and Loan Associations recently presented J. Edgar Hoover and the Chicago staff with plaques commemorating the bureau's solving of 14 holdups during 1962. "Holdup men are the only persons who fail to benefit from savings and loan institutions," said Stanley W. Ropa, chairman of the council's reward committee.

The council pays up to $1,000 for information leading to conviction within a year of persons who rob or burglarize a savings and loan participating in the council's reward program.

Two insurance corporations of the federal government protect the savings funds held by the nation's top financial institutions.

South Holland S & L Assets Hit $7 1/2 Million

During the past year, First Savings and Loan of South Holland has increased its assets by more than $7 1/2 million. Current assets are at a record high of $19 million. Officers report that if deposits continue at the present rate, more than a million dollars in net savings will be added during July.

The Association is celebrating its fourth anniversary this month until July 20. Savers are taking advantage of the quick, easy transfer service, the 4 1/2% earnings paid on all accounts and the useful gifts being given during the anniversary celebration.

July 31 more than $283,000 in dividends will be distributed to its savers, making a total of over $516,000 in earnings paid during the fourth year of the firm's operation.

The office is now open on Tuesday as well as Friday evenings until 8 p.m. to provide convenient service to all customers.

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. insures savings accounts in member commercial banks and mutual savings banks, while the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp. performs the same service for member savings and loan associations.

Both corporations insure each saver against losses up to $10,000, and a proposal to increase the amount of coverage is expected to be considered by Congress this fall.

Repayment is made either in cash or by opening another account for the saver at an institution of the same type in the same community.

Since the establishment of the FDIC in 1932 and the FSLIC in 1934 membership has grown steadily; until today the large majority of all savings accounts are insured.

More than 95 per cent of the total assets of the savings and loan business are held in FSLIC-insured associations, while about 99 per cent of the total commercial bank assets and 87 per cent of the mutual savings bank assets are held by institutions insured by FDIC.
